Training Session on Moot Court Techniques

The Faculty of Law conducted a Training Session on Moot Court Techniques on 30th April 2025 at 12:00 noon in the Moot Court. The session aimed to enhance students' skills in legal research, memorial drafting, and oral advocacy in preparation for upcoming moot court competitions. Guided by experienced faculty mentors, students participated in simulated courtroom exercises, including structured arguments and judicial questioning. The training provided valuable exposure to real-time court procedures, helping students build confidence and improve their advocacy abilities. The initiative was well-received, reflecting the faculty's commitment to practical legal education and student skill development through experiential learning.
